

KIRO Morning news

March 8, 2007

Donald Trump building a tower in Seattle?
His daughter Ivanka, vice-president of Donald Trump's Real Estate company.... says Seattle is definite possibility. By late 2009, they could very well have a luxury tower...She tells the Seattle Times....I would love to find a great site....I think the Trump name would do well here..

They are said to be working with developer Spencer Alpert who is looking for a site with views of the water and mountains....Ivanka tells the Seattle Times...Seattle is a young market and green development is important.....